

Perfect Squares

For all problems, assume that the numbers are positive integers.

Problem 1: Find all numbers with the following property: the square of the number is equal to twice the number.

Problem 2: Show that the difference between any two consecutive perfect square numbers is an odd number.